As the manufacturing, healthcare, and industrial hub of northeast Arkansas, Jonesboro is uniquely placed for continued growth in the professional services sector. With consistent demand for highly-skilled engineers, accountants, and I.T. personnel, Jonesboro represents great potential for individuals & companies.

With employment growth that has outpaced U.S. averages in the last 10 years, accountants and bookkeepers are finding new streams of clientele. Whether looking for an established firm or investing in a new venture, Jonesboro has the financial footing for accounting success.

Major industries, three hospitals, and several rising technology companies help anchor Jonesboro’s economy. These factors, combined with the presence of Arkansas State University make Jonesboro a city with the steady demand for top technology professionals.

Driven by 12% population growth since 2010, Jonesboro is a city on the move. With that growth comes opportunity. Talented mechanical, electrical, and industrial engineers are essential for Jonesboro’s rapidly expanding economy.

Find out more at www.jonesborounlimited.com
Arkansas State University’s College of Business graduates talent in Accounting, and Information Technology. These dynamic professionals help meet the demand across all key industries. A-State’s College of Business is AACSB accredited and offers Associates, Bachelors, and Master’s degrees in Accounting as well as Associates degrees in I.T.

Engineers are consistently developed at A-State. Over 400 future engineers are currently enrolled seeking accredited undergraduate degrees in civil, mechanical, and electrical engineering. A-State’s College of Agriculture, Engineering, and Technology also offers a Master’s Degree in Engineering and a Master’s Degree in Engineering Management.

JONESBORO: WHERE LIFE IS LESS EXPENSIVE

Living and working in Jonesboro means you get to keep more of your money. The cost of living in Jonesboro is consistently among the lowest in the southeastern United States. With consumer costs at 16% below the national average and a privately owned utility company that hasn’t raised electricity rates since 1984, Jonesboro makes for a better bottom line.

For more information about Jonesboro Unlimited contact:

Mark Young
myoung@jonesborochamber.com
870.336.9063

Craig Rickert
crickert@jonesborounlimited.com
870.336.9064